Fintan O'Regan is an internationally acclaimed presenter. He is currently an associate lecturer for Leicester University, the National Association of Special Needs, the Helen Arkell Charity and the Institute of Education, he is also an ADHD, Neurodiversity and Behaviour Consultant for a number of schools and organisations in the UK. Oppositional Defiant Disorder describes when a child displays a certain pattern of behaviours that includes losing their temper frequently, defying adults, being easily annoyed and deliberately annoying others. Pathological Demand Avoidance covers a range of features, the most distinctive of these, is an overriding compulsion to control situations and avoid demands made by other people, due to exceptionally high levels of anxiety. A range of strategies will be considered in order to address successful behaviour and socialisation outcomes for children and young persons with ODD and overlapping conditions.
